2. Recently, a case similar to the one proposed herein, was referred to your office to determine whether or not contractual action constituted a violation of the "conflicts of interest" law (see REF A). The opinion expressed in this case was that conflict of interest would not be involved, provided that, the individual not be permitted to serve in a supervisory position, and further that he not be placed in a position wherein he might favorable influence Agency procurement policy (See REF B). When on detail to the Agency, [REDACTED] responsibilities will neither be supervisory nor associated with Agency procurement programs, therefore, the precedent established in reference B would seem to apply.
